Concept and Design

Set in the historic village of Rathugala close to the Gal Oya National Park inhabited by the Veddahs, the last of Sri Lanka's indigenous population, Wild Glamping Gal Oya is surrounded by savanna forests and picturesque mountains. This 30 acres of abandoned deforested chena cultivation bordering Rambakan Oya, has been converted into an organic farm using good practice agriculture.

Location: Rathugala, Wellassa, Galgamuwa, Iginiyagala, Sri Lanka.

Accommodation

With the focus on minimising the environmental impact and improving the livelihood of the local communities, the public areas & the tented lodges have been constructed by people from the indigenous community using locally sourced, eco-friendly materials; this allows the travellers to fully immerse in nature whilst indulging in a host of modern amenities the abodes offer including private bathrooms, comfortable beds, spacious living areas, and solar lighting. Choose from two types of luxury lodges - the Deluxe Tented Lodge or the Family Tented Lodge - and live in the lap of comfort whilst exploring the surrounding natural paradise with the forest dwellers of Sri Lanka.
